DAILY PERSONALIZED EDITION PRINTED FOR READER NO. 1

THE MORNING FOLIO • VISUAL EDITION

2026-10-17 BESPOKE EDITION • VERIFIED FEEDS READ TIME ~3 MINS

★ LEAD DISPATCH • BUSINESS

Are we sleepwalking into World War III?

Reported by Financial Times

As regional conflicts rage and revisionist powers challenge the established order, warnings of a new global conflagration are growing louder

You asked for more business

THREE THINGS YOU LEARNED TODAY

1. business: As regional conflicts rage and revisionist powers challenge the established order, warnings of a new global conflagration are growing louder.
2. business: US president gives Putin a reprieve on threatened energy measures after cutting deal with Moscow to release diesel.
3. business: Exit comes amid deepening turmoil for White House as midterm elections loom.

BUSINESS

Trump exempts Russia from further sanctions mandated by new law

FINANCIAL TIMES

US president gives Putin a reprieve on threatened energy measures after cutting deal with Moscow to release diesel

Also covered by: Dawn, BBC World

You asked for more business

Trump's press secretary Katie Zacharia fired after five days

FINANCIAL TIMES

Exit comes amid deepening turmoil for White House as midterm elections loom

Also covered by: Dawn, BBC World, The Atlantic, NPR News

You asked for more business

Republicans turn on Trump's tariffs in battle for 'political survival'

FINANCIAL TIMES

US president's trade war has become an albatross for his party in crucial midterm election races

You asked for more business

PAKISTAN

Pope to return to Vatican after cancer surgery

DAWN

Pope Leo XIV will leave the Rome hospital where he has been recovering from lung cancer surgery , the Vatican said on Saturday, after doctors deemed him "fit for discharge". Leo, 71, has been at the Gemelli hospital north of the Vatican since Tuesday, where doctors removed part of his right lung to extract a cancerous tumour.

Also covered by: BBC Health

Curated for you in Pakistan

Minister rebukes JUI-F chief for seeking 'share' in KP governance after imposition of governor's rule, emergency

DAWN

State Minister for Interior Tallal Chaudhry on Saturday rebuked Jamiat Ulema-i-Islam-Fazl (JUI-F) chief Maulana Fazlur Rehman for reportedly seeking his "share" in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's governance following the imposition of governor's rule and an emergency in the province. Addressing the media in Jaranwala, Chaudhry emphasised that the imposition of an emergency and governor's rule in KP was not a political move aimed at strengthening the PML-N's presence in the province by dismissing the PTI-led government.

Curated for you in Pakistan

Armed men abduct 20 under-training police personnel in Mastung: officials

DAWN

QUETTA: Unidentified armed men kidnapped 20 police recruits undergoing training at the Kalat Police Training Centre while they were travelling in a passenger van along the Quetta-Karachi Highway in Mastung district, officials said. A senior Balochistan government official confirmed the abduction to Dawn on condition of anonymity, saying the recruits were heading home for the weekend when armed men intercepted their van.

Also covered by: Express Tribune

Curated for you in Pakistan

SPORTS

Four-try Dragons beat Perpignan - but without bonus

BBC SPORT

Dragons turn a half-time deficit around to beat Perpignan in their Challenge Cup opener at Rodney Parade.

Curated for you in sports

'Our roots are Man Utd' - but FC United ethos 'more important than ever'

BBC SPORT

FC United are hoping for FA Cup success, 21 years after being formed as a supporter-owned club following the Glazer family takeover of Manchester United.

Curated for you in sports

Stewart adds to GB gold tally at Worlds

BBC SPORT

Mark Stewart and Anna Morris add to Great Britain's gold medal tally on day three of the Track Cycling World Championships in Shanghai.

Curated for you in sports

SCIENCE

The uranium cubes that exposed Nazi Germany's nuclear failure

SCIENCEDAILY

Scientists investigating Nazi Germany's secret nuclear program have uncovered evidence that its final experimental reactor was nowhere near as close to working as previously claimed. Analysis of surviving uranium cubes and wartime documents...

Curated for you in science

"Crawzilla" was huge. Then scientists found an even bigger crayfish

SCIENCEDAILY

A nationwide search for giant crayfish uncovered a record-breaking Tennessee specimen and a surprising mystery about how big these freshwater creatures can grow. Scientists found that North American crayfish seem to hit a biological size li...

Curated for you in science

Antarctica's sea ice has undergone a stunning reversal

SCIENCEDAILY

Antarctic sea ice reached its third-lowest winter maximum in 2026, extending a remarkable decline that began after years of record-breaking growth. Scientists are investigating whether the dramatic reversal signals a long-term shift in Anta...

Curated for you in science

EXPLORE & CURIOSITIES

C++26: The New Debugging Header

HACKER NEWS • TECH

Comments

Outside your usual topics • Explore tech

Rare pink diamond goes on display in France 100 years after amateur heist

BBC WORLD • WORLD

The French royal jewel will be on public display for the first time since it was found hidden in an apple after a 1926 theft.

Outside your usual topics • Explore World

FOLIO DAILY CHRONICLE • ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

YOU'RE DONE FOR TODAY. ABOUT 3 MINUTES.

END OF EDITION